

WEATHERIZATION

Weatherization helps homeowners and renters reduce energy use while increasing comfort in their homes. This program is operated by local community agencies.

Addressing weatherization problems can:

- Reduce home energy use.
- Improve comfort.
- Make the home environment healthier.

Depending on the results of a home energy audit, homes may receive one or more of the following energy efficiency measures:

- Insulation - Adding insulation to the attic, walls and crawl spaces helps reduce energy use and increase comfort.
- Sealing air leaks - Sealing air leaks will reduce the cold drafts caused by unwanted holes in the home's structure and may improve indoor air quality.
- Heating Systems Update - Replacing an inefficient furnace or boiler will save energy and money.
- Energy Saving Products - Installing water saving faucet aerators and shower heads, and compact fluorescent light bulbs where applicable will reduce your energy needs. Replacing an old refrigerator with a new ENERGY STAR qualified model will also save energy.

ENERGY ASSISTANCE

Wisconsin's Home Energy Assistance Program (WHEAP) provides assistance for heating costs, electric costs, and energy crisis situations. The program is operated by local social and human service agencies.

Heating Assistance

Wisconsin Home Energy Assistance (WHEAP) Heating Assistance is a one-time payment each heating season (October 1 through May 15). It is intended to help pay a portion of heating costs and is not intended to pay the total annual heating cost. The amount of the heating assistance benefit varies according to household size, income level, and household heating costs.

For most families, the Heating Assistance payment will be sent directly to the fuel supplier. You will receive a notification from the Division of Energy informing you of your benefit amount. Your vendor will credit the amount to your account.

Electric Assistance (Non-Heating)
Many households will be eligible to receive a payment for non-heating electric energy costs through funding provided by the State's Public Benefits Program. The non-heating electric payment will be sent directly to your electric provider.

The amount of the electrical assistance benefit varies according to household size, income level and annual electrical costs. You will receive a notification from the Division of Energy informing you of your benefit amount. Your vendor will credit the amount to your account.

Crisis Assistance

WHEAP Crisis Assistance can provide emergency and non-emergency services. Households without heat, with a disconnect notice, or nearly out of heating fuel with no way to pay for heating needs, may be eligible for Emergency Crisis Assistance. Local WHEAP agencies provide a 24 hour crisis phone number to help with after hours emergencies. Emergency energy Crisis Assistance is available on a first come first serve basis starting October 1st and ending May 15th.

Non-Emergency, or Proactive Services, avoid future emergencies by providing information on how to reduce fuel costs, counseling on budgeting and money management, and providing payments to a fuel supplier with co-pay agreements.
